

Carly Koebel <ckoebel@scu.edu>

Hypotheticals now posted to our course portal.

1 message

Evangeline Abriel <eabriel@scu.edu>

Thu, May 11, 2017 at 9:22 AM

To: Evangeline Abriel <eabriel@scu.edu>, Carly Koebel <ckoebel@scu.edu>

Hi, everyone - I've just posted some hypotheticals to our course portal. We will use these throughout the Refugee Law portion of the course.

So to recap, there are three sets of course materials:

1. The refugee law course materials - posted to our course portal. As I stated in an earlier email, the materials will be available online throughout the course, but I'd suggest downloading them for easier access.

Considerations for whether to print out the course materials. These include how you learn best, that is, whether it is easier for you to read in hard copy rather than on screen. (And studies show that for most people, it is easier to absorb the material in a hard copy.) Also remember that the final exam will be open materials and open notes. While there are places in Sydney to print out, it may be easier to print out and bring the materials with you. If you do, print them out double-sided to reduce space, and you may even want to print out two pages per sheet, double-sided, to further reduce space. I would not print out Unit 1 - it consists of background materials that are easy to read on-screen.

2. The hypotheticals. These are fairly short; just think about whether you'd like them in hard copy - if so, print out double-sided.

3. Course materials for the environmental law portion of the course. Prof. Dwyer has posted these on a UTS course portal, but I have not yet received specific instructions on how to access these - I'll keep you posted.

Please let me know if I can give you any further information. Please remember to print out the Sydney newsletter and earlier information emails and bring them in your hand luggage.

Looking forward to seeing you in Sydney! Happy finals and safe travels!

Prof. Abriel
(Evangeline G. Abriel)
Clinical Professor of Law
Santa Clara University School of Law
500 El Camino Real
Santa Clara, California 95053
(408) 554-5368
eabriel@scu.edu

CONFIDENTIALITY NOTICE: All information contained in this email, including any attachments, is intended only for the named recipients. All information may be confidential, privileged, attorney's work product, or exempt from disclosure under law. Use, dissemination, distribution, or copying of this communication, or any of its contents, is not authorized except by the named recipients. If you have received this electronic mail in error or are not one of the named recipients, please do not read any text other than the text of this notice, and do not open any attachments. Instead, please notify us by return email or phone, then delete the email and destroy any printouts of it, including attachments. Thank you.