3. Program description

A. Comparative Intellectual Property Law (5 units)

The focus of this program is on European intellectual property law, with some comparative reference to U.S. intellectual property law. Patent law is explored in some depth. However, no expertise or prior background is needed for the course work. The course is designed as an introduction for the generalist as well as those seeking to specialize eventually in intellectual property law. The academic component of the program consists of a single four-week class on European Intellectual property law. Topics to be studied include the European Patent Convention and European Patent Office, the legal structure of the European Union, the Unitary Patent, European Trademark Law (including the Community Trade Mark Directive), European Design Law (including the Community Design Directive), European Copyright and Electronic Commerce Law, European Competition Law, and Geographical Indications of Origin.

Students will have the opportunity to participate in possible trips, including:

- European Patent Office
- Headquarters of BMW
- A social trip to Herrenchimesee, one of King Ludwig II's palaces, built on an island in a lake southwest of Munich

Students will study the procedures for filing and prosecuting patent applications in the European

Patent Office and for perfecting a patent grant into national patents, the relationship between EPO grant procedures and national patenting, and the rights of employed inventors in Germany and elsewhere. Classes generally are held between 9:00am and 1:00pm, Monday – Friday, with some exceptions. A final examination is given at the conclusion of the academic component. All courses and lectures are in English.

The 2017 program offers internships in the following areas (4-5 units):

Students gain practical experience by doing legal work under the supervision of a legal professional in the host country, while receiving invaluable integration into the legal culture of the country and make invaluable professional contacts. The expectation of an intern is full-time work from the period of the internship (e.g., 40 hours or more a week of supervised legal work). Santa Clara Law requires a minimum of 50 hours of supervised legal work for each internship unit of credit.

B. Munich Internships (3 units)

Internships are available at private intellectual property law firms and some institutions situated in and around Munich. These internship placements require either German language skills or a technical background, but not both.
